Acknowledgements

First of all, thanks to God.

I would like to thank my masters and professors, members of the staff of Gynecology and Obstetrics Department, Ain Shams university for teaching me during all my student and work career, giving me the chance to do my work and collect the blood specimens, and giving me every support they could.

I would like to give my best regards and thanks to my professor Dr. Mohamed Farouk Fikry for teaching me, and medicine is the least among other things he helped me acquire, approving the subject, giving me all the support and patience, and giving me the medical advice and revising the thesis during the work.

Many thanks to my professor Dr Ahmed Rashed Mohamed Rashed for giving the idea of the subject, helping in all the steps of the work and giving the moral support along the way.
