ACKNOWLEDGMENT

First of all, I have to thank God for every thing.

The author wishes to acknowledge Prof. Dr. Mohamed Ramadan Abou Shady, Professor of Microbiology and Head of Microbiology Department, Faculty of Science, Ain Shams University, for valuable advices, fruitful discussions and unfailing help.

It is also a pleasure to express my sincere gratitude to Prof. Dr. Mohamed Ibrahim Ahmad Ali, Professor of Microbiology and Head of Botany Department, Faculty of Science, Cairo University for his efforts throughout the preparation of this work, his constructive share in supervision and valuable guidance.

I am also indebted to Dr. Salama A. Ouf, Assistant professor, Botany Department, Faculty of Science, Cairo University for his continuous encouragement and valuable supervision of this work.

Finally, I would like to record my appreciations and thanks to all staff members and colleagues in both Department of Botany, Faculty of Science and National Institute of Laser Sciences, Cairo University.
