Acknowledgment

It is a matter of fact that, no one can deny that any advance to fulfill in this work is supplemented to God blessing. All of all thanks are direct to God.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Prof. Dr. Monstafa M. Mohammed, professor of Biophysics and head of Biomedphysics department, Medical Research Institute, Alexandria University, for his propounded updated vision for frequent suggestion to the topic of this thesis. Moreover his brilliant guidance, encouragement, and patience during my thesis work.

I would like also to thank Prof. Dr. Nivah Mahmoud Fikry professor of Biophysics, Medical Research Institute, Alexandria University, for her advanced eminence thinking that paves the way to me to fulfill this work.

Thanks for Dr. Mervat Abdel Khalek Mohammed, Colleague of Biophysics, Medical Research Institute, Alexandria University, for her guidance and assistance in setting up and conducting in experiments. This work couldnot have been completed without her help.

In addition I would like to thank all staff of Biomedical physics department, for their encouragement during all my work. Moreover great thanks to the members of microbiology and cell biology departments (Medical Research Institute, Alexandria University) for their assistance.

Finally . I need to provide a great appreciation to all my family, who accomodate me a suitable environment to make this work seeing light.
