

Effect of Various Light Sources on the Kinetics of Polymerization Shrinkage Strain, and Degree of Conversion of Low Stress Induce Composites

Thesis

Submitted to the Faculty of Dentistry, Ain Shams University in Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the PhD Degree in Operative Dentistry

By

Manal Mohammed Mohammed Diab

B.D.S, Cairo University, (1999)

M.S.C, Cairo University, (2007)

2017

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

”قَالُوا سُبْحَانَكَ لَا عِلْمَ لَنَا إِلَّا مَا عَلَّمْتَنَا

إِنَّكَ أَنْتَ الْعَلِيمُ الْحَكِيمُ”

صدق الله العظيم

سورة البقرة الآية (٣٢)

Supervisors

Dr. Mokhtar Nagy Ibrahim

Professor of Operative Dentistry
Faculty of Dentistry, Ain Shams University

Dr. Omaila Hassan Ghallab

Associate Professor of Operative Dentistry
Faculty of Dentistry, Ain Shams University

Dr. Mohammed Hussein Zaazau

Professor of Restorative Dentistry
Restorative and Dental Materials Department
National Research Centre

Acknowledgement

I am deeply indebted and had a great honor to undertake this research under the valuable supervision of Dr. Mokhtar Nagy Ibrahim Professor of Operative Dentistry Faculty of Dentistry, Ain Shams University, (God bless his soul) who gave me the opportunity to learn from his creative advices and expanded experience. His constant support, encouragement and willingness to teach and educate had pushed me forward throughout this work.

No word can fulfil the feeling of gratitude and respect I carry to Dr. Omaima Hassan Ghallab Associate Professor of Operative Dentistry Faculty of Dentistry, Ain Shams University for all her efforts without which, this work could not be achieved. I thank her for her faithful supervision, constructive guidance and real interest in the progress of this work.

I also owe a great debt of gratitude to Dr. Mohammed Hussein Zaazou Professor of Restorative Dentistry, Restorative and Dental Materials Department, head of Oro-dental Division - National Research Centre. Who honoured me by his supervision, constant support and encouragement till this work become a reality.

Dedication

This work is dedicated

To my Precious Parents for their love and their support in every step of my life.

To My Husband for his endless patience and support.

To My Sun shine Daughter Danya and My lovely Sons Mohammed, Mohannad and Eyad for their tolerance.

To my very special friend Rasha EL Saeed for her constant support and encouragement.

List of Contents
Title	Page
List of Tables	i
List of Figures	iii
List of abbreviations	ix
Introduction
Review of literature
[1] Light Curing Units	6
[2] Degree of Conversion	17
[3] Kinetics of Polymerization Shrinkage Strain	34
[4] Finite Element Analysis	42
Aim of the study	47
Materials and methods	48
Results	72
Discussion	99
Summary and conclusions	113
References	117
Arabic summary

List of Tables
Table		Page
Table (1)	Resin composite materials (manufacturer, compositions and their lot numbers)	48
Table (2)	Characteristics of light curing units used in this study	50
Table (3)	Levels of the study	51
Table (4)	Factorial design of variables interactions for polymerization shrinkage strain test	51
Table (5)	Factorial design of variables interactions for degree of conversion test	52
Table (6)	Young's modulus and Poisson's ratio of tested resin composite materials	67
Table (7)	Nodes and Elements of tested resin Composite Materials	68
Table (8)	Two way ANOVA for the effect of different resin composite materials and curing devices on degree of conversion	72
Table (9)	Means and standard deviations of degree of conversion for tested resin composite materials regardless the curing devices	73
Table (10)	Means and standard deviations for the effect of the tested curing devices on the degree conversion regardless resin composite materials	74
Table (11)	Means and standard deviations results for the effect of the tested resin composite materials and curing devices on the degree of conversion	76

Table (12)	Two way ANOVA for the effect of different resin composite materials and curing devices on polymerization shrinkage strain	78
Table (13)	Means and standard deviations of polymerization shrinkage strain values ($\mu\text{m}/\text{m}$) for tested resin composite materials regardless the curing devices	79
Table (14)	Means and standard deviations results for the effect of polymerization shrinkage strain values ($\mu\text{m}/\text{m}$) for tested curing devices regardless the resin composite materials	80
Table (15)	Means and standard deviations results for the effect of tested resin composite materials and curing devices on the polymerization shrinkage strain	81
Table (16)	The maximum and minimum Von Mises' equivalent stress for the tested resin composite materials under compressive loading	83
Table (17)	The maximum and minimum Summation Displacement Magnitude (U_{sum}) in XYZ direction for the tested resin composite materials under compressive loading	84
Table (18)	The maximum and minimum Von Mises' equivalent stress for the tested resin composite materials under tensile loading	91
Table (19)	The maximum and minimum Summation Displacement Magnitude (U_{sum}) in XYZ direction for the tested resin composite materials under tensile loading	92

List of Figures
Figure		Page
Figure (1)	Teflon mold with dimension of (2 × 2 mm)	56
Figure (2)	Tetric Evoceram Bulk Fill resin composite material	56
Figure (3)	GC Kalori resin composite material	57
Figure (4)	Silorane Filtek P90 resin composite material	57
Figure (5)	Light Emitting Diode (LED)	58
Figure (6)	Blue diode-pumped solid-state laser (DPSS) Laser connected to optical fiber for laser coupling	58
Figure (7)	Gold Plated Resin-Composite Instrument	59
Figure (8)	Resin composite material was packed in the Teflon mold	59
Figure (9)	Light curing devices were in a perpendicular position on the specimen top surface during resin composite material curing. a] LED b] DPSS	59
Figure (10)	a) Mortar and pestle b) In which specimen was pulverized into fine powder using a mortar and pestle	60
Figure (11)	a) Components of special evaluable KBr die b) Manual hydrolytic press used to compress and prepare KBr pellet	60
Figure (12)	KBr pellet (mixture of the tested resin composite material and KBr powder) for degree of conversion measurement	61

Figure (13)	a) KBr pellet placed in a holder attachment b) KBr pellet holder attachment in optical compartment of the FTIR for DC analysis	61
Figure (14)	Fourier Transform Infrared Spectroscopy (FTIR)	61
Figure (15)	Strain gage a] Strain gage package b] Strain gage foil	64
Figure (16)	a] Strain gage foil was attached to the flat glass surface b] Strain gage in place under the mold	64
Figure (17)	The strain gage foil connected to a strain meter which was connected to the computer software a] LED b] DPSS Laser	65
Figure (18)	Geometric model of the tested resin composite materials (2mm × 2mm)	69
Figure (19)	(a) Mesh model for tested resin composite materials (b) three degree of freedoms (translations in the global directions)	69
Figure (20)	Mesh model surface of the tested resin composite materials were subjected to (a) Compressive load of 200N (b) Tensile load of 200N	70
Figure (21)	Bar chart showing degree of conversion for tested resin composite materials regardless the curing devices	74
Figure (22)	Bar chart for the effect of the tested curing devices on degree conversion regardless resin composite materials	75

Figure (23)	Bar chart showing the results for the effect of the tested resin composite materials and curing devices on the degree of conversion	77
Figure (24)	Bar chart of the polymerization shrinkage strain values ($\mu\text{m/m}$) for tested resin composite materials regardless the curing devices	79
Figure (25)	Bar chart for the effect of polymerization shrinkage strain values ($\mu\text{m/m}$) for tested curing devices regardless the resin composite materials	80
Figure (26)	Bar chart showing the results for the effect of tested resin composite materials and curing devices on the polymerization shrinkage strain	82
Figure (27)	Bar chart that showed the maximum and minimum Von Mises' equivalent stress for the tested resin composite materials under compressive loading	83
Figure (28)	Bar chart that showed the maximum and minimum Summation Displacement Magnitude (Usum) in XYZ direction for the tested resin composite materials under compressive loading	84
Figure (29)	[a, b, c, d] representing the Nodal solution of stresses that developed in Bulk fill mesh model under compressive loading [S1-S2-S3-Seqv] respectively  The red color represent the maximum value,  while the blue color represent the minimum value	85
Figure (30)	[a, b, c, d] representing the Nodal solution of displacement that happened in Bulk fill mesh model under compressive loading [UX-UY- UZ - Usum] respectively	86

	■ The red color represent the maximum value, ■ while the blue color represent the minimum value
Figure (31)	[a, b, c, d] representing the Nodal solution of stresses that developed in Kalore mesh model under compressive loading [S1-S2-S3-Seqv] respectively ■ The red color represent the maximum value, ■ while the blue color represent the minimum value	87
Figure (32)	[a, b, c, d] representing the Nodal solution of displacement that happened in Kalore mesh model under compressive loading [UX-UY- UZ and Usum] respectively ■ The red color represent the maximum value, ■ while the blue color represent the minimum value	88
Figure (33)	[a, b, c, d] representing the Nodal solution of stresses that developed in Silorane mesh model under compressive loading [S1-S2-S3-Seqv] respectively ■ The red color represent the maximum value, ■ while the blue color represent the minimum value	89
Figure (34)	[a, b, c, d] representing the Nodal solution of displacement that happened in Silorane mesh model under compressive loading [UX-UY- UZ and Usum] respectively ■ The red color represent the maximum value, ■ while the blue color represent the minimum value	90
Figure (35)	Bar chart showed the maximum and minimum Von Mises' equivalent stress for the tested resin composite materials under tensile loading	91