List of Figures

Fig. No.	Title	Page No.
١	Photograph of an opened chorionic sac. An early embryo and yolk sac are seen. Note the prominent fringe of chorionic villi	٧
٢	A. Uterus of pregnant woman showing a normal placenta in situ. B. Photomicrograph of a histological section through amnion, chorion, and decidua vera that is depicted in (A)	١٧
٣	Photograph of maternal surface of placenta. Placenta lobes are formed by clefts on the surface that originate from placental septa.	١٨
٤	Schematic drawing of a section through a full-term placenta.	٢١
٥	Bilobate placenta with marginal insertion of the umbilical cord.	٢٦
٦	Circumvallate (right) and circummarginate (left) varieties of extrachorial placentas.	٢٩
٧	Total placenta previa showing that copious hemorrhage could be anticipated even with modest cervical dilatation.	٣١
٨	Partial placenta previa with a ٢٢-week pregnancy.	٣٢
٩	Total placenta previa.	٣٩
١٠	Partial anterior placenta previa at ٣٦ weeks' gestation.	٤٠

١١	Percentage of women with persistent placenta previa at delivery according to gestational age at diagnosis and with and without a prior cesarean delivery.	٤٢
١٢	Abnormally adherent placentation.	٥٠
١٣	Cesarean hysterectomy specimens with placenta percreta.	٥٢
١٤	Incidences of some causes of obstetrical hemorrhage and their contribution to maternal death from hemorrhage.	٥٣
١٥	Transabdominal sonogram of placental invasion.	٥٦

List of Tables

١	Demographic and obstetric data of the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٦٩
٢	Obstetric examinations of the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٧٠
٣	Pre-operative laboratory investigations of the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٧١
٤	Post-operative laboratory investigations of the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٧٢
٥	Hematological levels of the pregnant women with placenta previa centralis pre- and post-operative.	٧٣
٦	Hematological levels of the pregnant women with placenta previa marginalis pre- and post-operative.	٧٤
٧	Ultrasound evaluation of the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٧٥
٨	Neonatal evaluation of the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٧٦

٩	Amount of blood transfusion and blood loss in the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٧٧
١٠	Duration of admission of patients, neonatal and maternal admission to ICU in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٧٨
١١	Type and site of cesarean section in the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٧٩
١٢	Postoperative maternal complications in the pregnant women in both types of placenta previa (centralis or marginalis).	٨٠
