ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

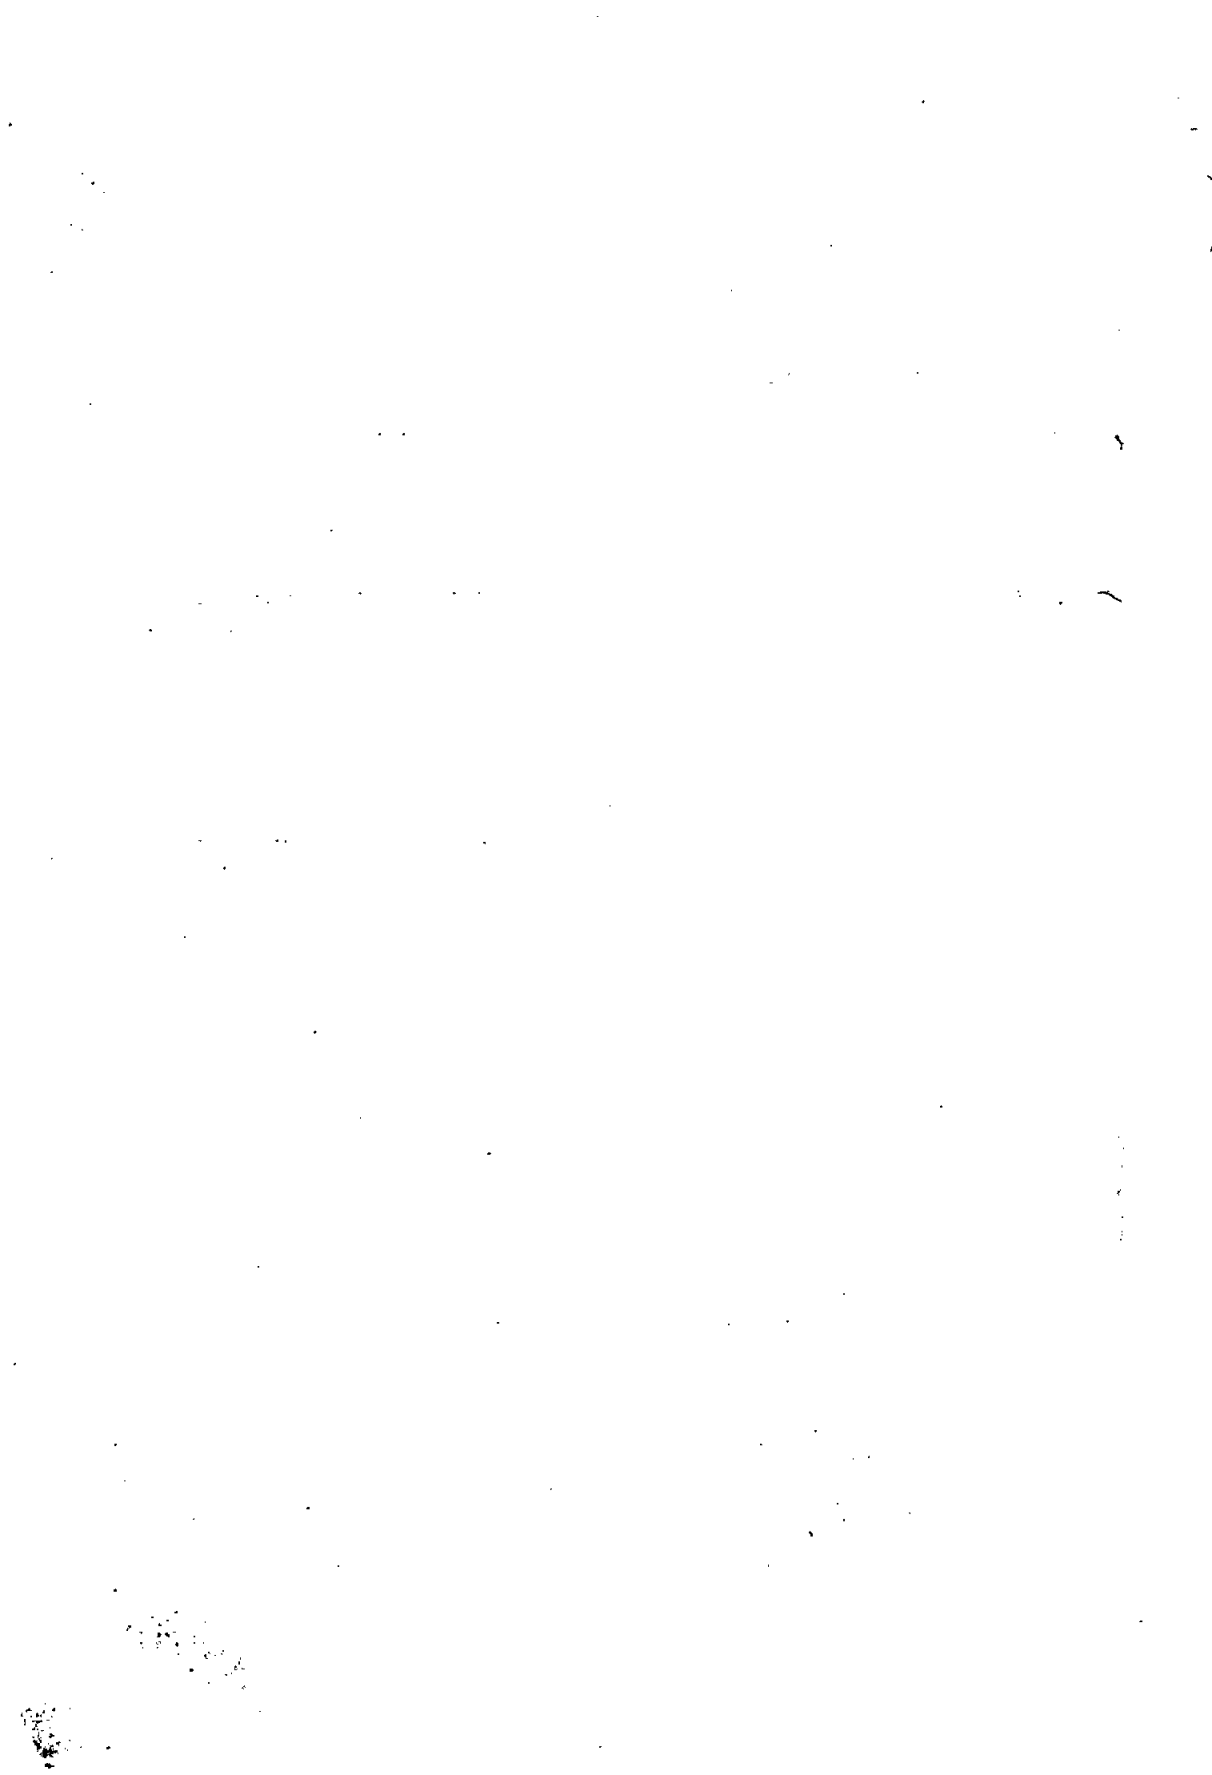

No word of gratitude would be enough to express my deep indebtedness to Dr. Thoraya G. Herakly, Professor of English and American Literature, Women's College, Ain Shams University, for her constructive supervision, valuable advice, and constant support. Her kindness, tolerance, and unlimited understanding have actually helped me throughout the work. I am also greatly indebted to the late Professor Eva S. Saigh (now deceased), Professor of English Literature, Women's College, Ain Shams University, for her encouragement and support during the preparation of this project.

Also, I would like to thank Professor James I. MacClintock, and Professor Jennifer Banks, the Department of English, Michigan State University, East Lansing, for their substantial cooperation, generous efforts, and illuminating remarks during my stay in U.S.A. from 3/6/1997 to 30/ 11/ 1998.

I am also thankful to my colleagues Dr. Islam El- Saddy, Dr. Hamdy Shaheen, and Dr. Mona Kassim, the Department of English, Faculty of Arts, Mansoura University, for providing me with the material I needed to cover certain parts of this project, during their stay in U.S.A. from (1995-1996).

I would like also to express my deep gratitude and respect to my dear father and mother for their sympathy and constant encouragement.

My deep indebtedness and heartfelt gratitude go to my dear husband for his patience, open-heartedness, valuable advice and, more importantly, for the spiritual backing he used to show to me throughout this work.
